GENEVA – May 20th, 2008

COMLUX AVIATION OPENS NEW OPERATION IN KAZAKHSTAN

Comlux The Aviation Group is delighted to announce the establishment of Comlux KZ, its new operation in Almaty, Kazakhstan. The office is being established in response to the strong increase in demand for charter services in the region over the past 3 years. The office will allow the Group to service customers traveling into and around Kazakhstan, Central Asia and the neighboring Russian speaking region.

The office will provide full charter and management services and, with the wide experience of the Group, will be able to handle most aircraft with a particular specialization in Airbus VIP, Bombardier Global Express and Challenger aircraft. Comlux KZ operates with a commercial Kazakh AOC and currently operates two Challenger 850. A Challenger 605 will be added to the Kazakh fleet by the end of 2008. Globally the Group will operate 15 aircrafts by the end of 2008.

Alexander Kurumidi CEO of Comlux KZ said; “We are offering a unique opportunity for business leaders in our country to operate their aircraft commercially, and to give our VIP clientele access to The Comlux Aviation Group. We are delighted to be leading the way in aircraft charter and management in Central Asia.”

Ettore Rodaro COO of Comlux The Aviation Group and head of the VIP charter and Aircraft management division said; “We believe that Kazakhstan offers exciting opportunities and is a key part of our global presence. This new operation adds to our existing offices in Zurich, Monaco, Moscow and Malta. It is in keeping with our strategy of maintaining the highest standards for our customers while growing the range of charter and private jet management services that we offer.”
