

Comlux Buys Challenger for Kazakhstan Base

Comlux Management has bolstered its executive charter fleet by ordering a third Bombardier Challenger 605. The new aircraft will be operated by the Swiss-based company's FlyComlux division in Almaty, Kazakhstan, and will be available for flights both within Asia and into Europe. The Comlux fleet includes three Challenger 605s, two Challenger 850s, two Global 5000s, two Global Expresses and two Global Express XRSs. In addition to its location in Almaty, FlyComlux has operating bases in Zurich and Moscow. The Challenger 605 is equipped with Rockwell Collins Pro Line 21 avionics and can be fitted with the optional Bombardier enhanced vision system, which is ideal for low-visibility conditions.

Comlux Buys Challenger for Kazakhstan Base

Comlux Management has bolstered its executive charter fleet by ordering a third Bombardier Challenger 605. The new aircraft will be operated by the Swiss-based company's FlyComlux division in Almaty, Kazakhstan, and will be available for flights both within Asia and into Europe. The Comlux fleet includes three Challenger 605s, two Challenger 850s, two Global 5000s, two Global Expresses and two Global Express XRSs. In addition to its location in Almaty, FlyComlux has operating bases in Zurich and Moscow. The Challenger 605 is equipped with Rockwell Collins Pro Line 21 avionics and can be fitted with the optional Bombardier enhanced vision system, which is ideal for low-visibility conditions.