COMLUX “COMPLETES” ITS VIP CHARTER FLEET WITH THE COMPLETION OF ITS FIRST AIRBUS A320 PRESTIGE

Comlux America, the Indianapolis-based completion center of the Comlux Group, has delivered its first VVIP cabin of an Airbus A320 Prestige. The company, created just over two years ago, strategically developed all the capabilities and shops in-house to perfectly outfit this ultra luxurious cabin.

The aircraft's interior was designed by Comlux Creatives who selected the finest and most exclusive materials for this unique cabin style. The main room offers a VIP lounge with L shaped divan, two club seats and a large dining table for 6 guests. In the middle of the cabin a fully private compartment offers either a cozy lounge for the day or a large double bed for night. A dedicated bathroom with shower completes the private lounge. Suitable for up to 19 passengers the cabin has been intentionally designed for the Middle East charter market; with designated business and economy class seats that allow the transport of an entourage and the cargo holds of the A320 are the most spacious in this category.

This A320 is equipped with the latest technologies such as GSM, new touch screens, mood-lighting, wifi internet access and iPod/iPhone stands enabling VIP passengers to enjoy a state-of-the-art in-flight experience.

“I am very proud of my team who worked on this project. Our craftsmen did a remarkable job exceeding our client's expectations in terms of quality. Our engineers have used specific materials in the cabin enhancing the cabin quietness. They also worked on a weight reduction program increasing aircraft performance. After this great achievement, we are all now very excited to start working on a new Boeing Business Jet and Airbus Corporate Jet which have already arrived at our facility” says David Edinger, CEO of Comlux America.
