COMLUX-KZ RECEIVES EASA PART 145 APPROVAL TO PROVIDE LINE MAINTENANCE ON BOMBARDIER CHALLENGER BUSINESS AIRCRAFT

Comlux the Aviation Group is pleased to announce that Kazakh-based Comlux-KZ, one of the operational centers of Fly Comlux division, has received EASA PART 145 approval to provide line maintenance services to large-cabin Bombardier Challenger aircraft and support AOG requirements in the Central Asia, CIS and Russia region. The release of the Certificate from 7 July 2011 follows a stringent audit performed by the UK CAA on behalf of the European Air Safety Agency.

Irina Pay, Chief Operational officer Comlux-KZ said "Two years ago, in order to develop synergies within the Group, Comlux decided to raise the operational standards of Comlux-KZ to EASA level. Our teams in Almaty worked hard to demonstrate our technical competences and our EASA PART 145 maintenance approval is a success for the company."

"Since 2008, Comlux is already providing EASA standard maintenance services through our jet maintenance center in Indianapolis USA, Comlux Aviation Services" said Richard Gaona, President of the Comlux Group " This added authorization in Kazakhstan expands our business aviation services in Central Asia while developing a worldwide maintenance network."
