COMLUX AVIATION SERVICES GAINS FAA APPROVAL FOR GULFSTREAM G-IV AND G-IVSP AIRCRAFT

Comlux Aviation Services LLC based in Indianapolis, the exclusive jet maintenance center of Comlux, The Aviation Group is pleased to announce that the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) has extended their Gulfstream Repair Station ratings to include the G-IV and G-IVSP model types. The addition of the new rating adds further depth to the Comlux Aviation Services other Gulfstream ratings which include the Gulfstream G-II, G-IIB and G-III aircraft.

“We are proud of the 30+ year heritage we have as an extraordinary aircraft Maintenance Repair Organization and recognize that our customers want a choice for exceptional Gulfstream maintenance that is outside of the OEM network.” said Tony Bailey, CEO of Comlux Aviation Services. “The incredible talent of our mechanics and technicians is nothing short of amazing and we are delighted to be able to offer our maintenance activities to the customers of Gulfstream G-IV operators who can now receive the care and attention our operation is recognized, and praised for. This is just another example of our ability to demonstrate that we operate a high quality facility and further solidifies our expansion into other model types”.
